

Host Site: California Rural Legal Assistance, Inc. (CRLA)

Topic of Project: H-2A (Temporary Agricultural Workers)

Location: Oxnard, Salinas, Santa Maria, Santa Rosa, or Oakland

Description of Fellow Project:

CRLA is seeking a Student Fellow to focus on creating outreach materials, networking with local agencies, performing know-your-rights presentations, assisting with legal research, and drafting legal memorandum.

CRLA is looking for a H-2A Rural Summer Legal Corps Student Fellow interested in developing and helping implement CRLA's statewide approach to challenging the expanded use of H-2A and other foreign temporary workers. This would include monitoring H-2A applications, identifying housing sites, developing outreach strategies with local offices, and preparing outreach and education materials. This Student Fellowship will require analysis of H-2A applications and will provide the opportunity for advocacy with the certifying agencies. The student will also have the opportunity to participate in individual and group representation in administrative complaints and lawsuits challenging unlawful practices.
